Stock transfer form guide

Summary

To transfer ownership of shares or units into another name, the current registered holder(s) must complete a stock transfer form. We've put this guide together to help you complete this form.

Here is a brief summary of the steps you need to take.

- Establish the holding(s) to be transferred. You will need to know the full fund name and the number of shares or units to transfer.
- Each transfer, for example if you are transferring more than one fund / share class or splitting the holding between more than one person, will require a separate stock transfer form to be completed.
- If income shares are being transferred, the new holder(s) will need to complete a direct credit mandate for income to be paid out. Any existing arrangement will not transfer across to the new account.

If we do not have payment instructions, we will reinvest income to purchase additional shares or units.

- Send the forms to us at: Aviva Investors Administration Office, PO Box 10410, Chelmsford, CM99 2AY.

Money laundering regulations require financial institutions to obtain evidence of clients' identities.

Therefore, before we are able to process the transfer, we may require additional documentation from the current registered holder(s), or other third parties registered to the investment (such as a Power of Attorney).

If this is the case, we will write to each impacted individual directly. We may also require evidence for the new holder(s), but if so we will write to them after the transfer has been completed.

If transferring shares or units held by a deceased client, we will also need our Bereavement Form completed by the executor(s) / personal representative.

For further details, please refer to our guide entitled What to do after a bereavement.

Once we have everything we need, the transfer will be processed within 5 business days.

We will send confirmation to both the person transferring the investment and the person receiving the shares or units.

If there are multiple holders, we will write to the first named holder only. If the stock transfer form has been lodged by an agent, they too will receive confirmation of the transfer.

Frequently asked questions

What can I transfer?

You can transfer shares / units held directly (non-ISA) or within an ISA.

Please note that transferring shares or units from an ISA by means of a stock transfer form will remove the ISA status, meaning the recipient will hold the shares / units as a direct investment (non-ISA).

You can transfer your holding in shares or units in whole or in part. If you transfer in part, the value of any remaining or new holdings as a result of the transfer must meet the minimum holding for the fund.

How many shares / units do I hold?

To complete the stock transfer form, you will need to know the full fund name and the number of shares or units to transfer.

The number of shares or units may have changed from your previous statement if you are reinvesting income or making regular contributions by direct debit. Please contact us using the details found on the back on this guide for an up-to-date valuation.

If the holding is being transferred in full, you do not need to quote the number of shares / units and can instead just state ALL.

Who can I transfer to?

Shares can be transferred to individuals or to corporate bodies, either in the name of a single holder or in joint names of up to four holders. Further details can be found below.

– Individuals

Individuals must be 18 or older to hold shares. For children under 18, shares can be held in the name(s) of parents or guardians instead with a designation.

A designation is a code that will be displayed on contract notes and statements, and is commonly used to identify an investment held on behalf of another.

Whilst a designation holds no legal significance, it can help the registered holder(s) distinguish between their holdings.

– Organisations

We can register investments in the name of corporate bodies, such as a trustee company or nominee company.

We cannot register an investment into the name of a Trust, a title (such as “The Trustees of ...”), or unincorporated organisation, club or society.

For investments on behalf of such entities, the investment would need to be held in the name(s) of (up to four of) the trustee(s) or other authorised individual(s).

For other types of organisation or entities, please contact us using the details found on the back on this guide to establish whether they are eligible to hold shares on the register.

How many stock transfer forms will I need to complete?

You will need to complete a separate form for:

- each transfer from each holding (e.g. to divide a holding between two separate individuals)
- each share class being transferred (e.g. Share Class 1 and Share Class 6)
- each share type being transferred (e.g. Income and Accumulation)
- each product being transferred (e.g. non-ISA and ISA)

Blank stock transfer forms can be found on our website www.avivainvestors.com or provided upon request.

When are income payment instructions required?

When transferring income shares, the payment details will not carry across. If we do not have payment instructions, we will reinvest income to purchase additional shares or units.

As such, a new direct credit mandate will need to be completed by the new holder(s) if a new account is being created by the transfer, or where the transfer is going into an existing account that does not already hold Income shares.

If the transfer is going into an existing account and the new holder(s) already hold other Income shares and have an existing payment instruction on file, the income will be paid in accordance with this mandate.

Reverse of the stock transfer form

The reverse of the stock transfer form relates to our obligations to carry out customer due diligence in relation to the new holder(s) and any controllers or beneficial owners that may exist, for which we may require documentary evidence or we may carry out an electronic search using a third party verification company. A beneficial owner is someone who may benefit from an investment even if the investment is not in their name.

Beneficial owners and controllers	Stamp
Name:	Address:
Date of Birth:
Capacity:

 e.g. trustee, settlor, beneficiary, etc.

The names, addresses and date of birth of any beneficial owners or controllers should be entered in the appropriate field with a brief description of their capacity. This should be completed in BLOCK CAPITALS.

For companies or partnerships, the beneficial owners that must be listed are any individuals that ultimately own or control more than 25% of the voting rights or are entitled to more than 25% of the company's or partnership's capital or profits. They may not necessarily be the actual shareholders in the company. We also require details of any directors. Should the firm not be directly owned by a natural person, please provide details of the ownership structure.

For investments held on behalf of trusts and other similar arrangements, the beneficial owners are individuals that are nominated to benefit from more than 25% of the trust property, as well as any trustees or settlors (even if deceased) that may exist in addition to the new holder(s) or others that may exercise control over them.

Any trustee(s) that is not a registered holder must also be listed.

Where a trust or arrangement is established for unspecified individual beneficiaries, the trustees may, for example, have discretionary powers to identify who should receive payments out of the trust property on an ad-hoc basis, or an arrangement such as a charity may have been established for the general benefit of a section of the community.

These are referred to as 'classes' of the beneficiary. In these cases, a description of the class of beneficiary should be entered in the table (this may extend across both columns).

If space for more than four beneficial owners is needed, please tick the box below the table and provide the details on a separate sheet.

If the transferee(s) is/are the only beneficial owner(s) of the shares/units, simply enter TRANSFEREE or TRANSFEREES as appropriate on the first line of the left hand column.

If there are other beneficial owners, but none has an interest that exceeds 25% (see above), NONE should be entered in the appropriate field and strike through the remainder of the table.

Declaration

I/We hereby certify that the above is a complete list of the beneficial owners and controllers as described above and that they are known to me/one or more of us or, in-case of a class of beneficiary, that the description is appropriate and accurate.
To be signed by one or more of the transferees name overleaf, in whose names the units/shares will be registered.

Signature of applicant(s)

Transferees should sign here to certify both that the table above has been completed properly and that any beneficial owners or controllers that may be listed are known to at least one of those who sign.
