

Stay invested: The cost of missing out on the market's best days

Watching investments go up and down can be stressful. Whilst it might be tempting to withdraw your money when market volatility hits, it's important to understand the impact it could have on your overall returns.

Source: S&P500, Aviva Investors

This chart shows the cost of missing out on the market's best performing days over the last forty years.

For example, if you invested £100,000 in 1984 and left your portfolio untouched, it would have grown over time to be worth £3,044,157.

On the other hand, if you had pulled your investments as a reaction to market volatility and ended up missing the market's best fifteen days, it would be worth £1,198,895.

If you missed the best forty days, it would be worth almost 89% less than if you'd left it – only £346,043.

Key takeaways

- Don't react to short-term market volatility by pulling your investments
- Missing out on the market's best-performing days could significantly impact your overall returns
- Staying invested through ups and downs gives you a better chance to reach your long-term goals.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

The information provided is for illustrative purposes only and should not be construed as an investment recommendation.

- Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.
- The value of an investment and any income from it can go down as well as up. Investors may not get back the original amount invested.
- The information provided is for illustrative purposes only and should not be construed as an investment recommendation.

Important information

THIS IS A MARKETING COMMUNICATION

Except where stated as otherwise, the source of all information is Aviva Investors Global Services Limited (AIGSL). Unless stated otherwise any views and opinions are those of Aviva Investors. They should not be viewed as indicating any guarantee of return from an investment managed by Aviva Investors nor as advice of any nature. Information contained herein has been obtained from sources believed to be reliable but, has not been independently verified by Aviva Investors and is not guaranteed to be accurate. Past performance is not a guide to the future. The value of an investment and any income from it may go down as well as up and the investor may not get back the original amount invested. Nothing in this material, including any references to specific securities, assets classes and financial markets is intended to or should be construed as advice or recommendations of any nature. This material is not a recommendation to sell or purchase any investment.

In the UK this is issued by Aviva Investors Global Services Limited. Registered in England and Wales No. 1151805. Registered Office: 80 Fenchurch Street, London, EC3M 4AE. Authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority. Firm Reference No. 119178.

764900 - 30/07/2027

Contact us

80 Fenchurch Street,
London EC3M 4AE
enquiries.uk@avivainvestors.com
avivainvestors.com