GLOBAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST POLICY

1. INTRODUCTION

In its capacity as portfolio manager and fund manager, AI acts as trusted agent for its clients (including potential clients) (each, a “Client”) making investment decisions on their behalf and providing other asset management services. Confidence in the integrity of AI and its Employees when acting on behalf of its clients is central to the relationship of trust not only between AI and its Clients, but also between the financial services industry and other key stakeholders.

In the course of carrying out its day to day activities, CoI may arise (whether actual or perceived) between the interests of AI and its Clients, or between Employees and Clients or between the interests of one Client (or group of Clients) and other Clients. In considering a Client or Potential Client’s interests, AI will assess all relevant components, including any impact to a Client or Potential Client’s sustainability preferences through the integration of sustainability risk and other ESG factors across the investment process.

AI must identify and manage CoI fairly and must maintain and operate effective organisational and administrative arrangements to identify and manage CoI fairly. Failure to do so can result in significant detriment to Clients and financial loss, reputational, regulatory or litigation risks for AI and/or Employees.

This Policy describes the arrangements established by AI to identify report and manage CoI. AI will take disciplinary action (up to and including termination of employment or other contractual arrangements) against Employees failing to adhere to the requirements of this Policy or any approved procedures relating to its implementation. Where appropriate, Employees’ conduct may also be referred to law enforcement agencies and/or regulators.

2. MEANING OF CONFLICT OF INTEREST

A Conflict of Interest is any situation in which a person (individual or corporate) has commercial, professional, or personal interests which compete with those of another person. Where a person holds a position of trust in relation to another, such as AI holds in relation to its clients, such competing interests can make it difficult to fulfil its/his/her duties impartially. A Conflict of Interest may exist even if no gain, or unethical or improper act results from it.

In this Policy “Conflict of Interest” means any actual or potential conflict of interest which may arise between:

- AI, its affiliates (or a collective investment scheme operated by AI) and a Client;
- An Employee (or their Connected Persons), and a Client;
- An Employee (or their Connected Persons) and AI;
- A Client and another AI Client or group of Clients; One AI Entity (or business area) and either another AI Entity (or business area) or an entity (or business area) of the Aviva Group.

3. IDENTIFYING TYPES OF CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

For the purpose of identifying actual or potential CoI, appropriate consideration must be given to all relevant circumstances including the following (non-exhaustive) matters:

- Whether the circumstances may result in an unfair advantage, a financial gain, or avoid a financial loss, at the expense of a Client;
GLOBAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST POLICY
December 2021

- Whether there is a financial or other interest in the outcome of a service provided or offered to the Client or of a transaction carried out on behalf of the Client, which is distinct from the Client’s interest in that outcome;
- Whether there is an incentive to favour the interest of a Client or group of Clients over the interests of another Client or group of Clients;
- Whether a person connected with the circumstances carries on, or is connected with, the same business as the Client;
- Whether an AI Entity acting as a management company of a collective investment scheme carries on the same activities for another Client or group of Clients;
- Whether any person will receive from a person other than the Client an inducement in relation to a service provided to the Client, in the form of monies, goods or services, other than the standard commission or fee for that service.

Identification of an actual or potential Conflict of Interests is the responsibility of the Employee concerned, who may refer to, but not rely upon the list of types of circumstances set out in the supporting Conflict of Interest Procedures.

4. IDENTIFYING A CONFLICT OF INTEREST OWNER

Where an actual or potential conflict of interest (including any personal conflict) exists in the business and is appropriately disclosed under this Policy, the owner of the conflict should be the Senior Manager (SMF) as defined under SMCR, who is responsible for the business unit, process or activity which would be negatively impacted either financially, or reputationally, should the potential loss associated with the conflict materialise.

For the avoidance of doubt, where an Employee is declaring an outside business interest (“OBI”), this will in turn be owned by the respective Employee. In the event where an OBI materialises resulting in a potential or actual CoI, ownership of the CoI will be determined under the definition aforementioned.

Where appropriate, an SMF may delegate ownership of a CoI to a “Conflict of Interest Nominee” if that individual is better placed to assess, oversee and challenge a CoI that has been identified.

5. MANAGING CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Principle

In addressing any circumstances in which an actual or potential Conflict of Interest may arise, AI shall, and its Employees and Accountable Executives shall, ensure that in providing any service or managing a product for a Client it:
- always acts in the best interest of its Clients and puts Clients’ interests ahead of its own or those of Employees, and;
- treats all its Clients fairly.

Managing Conflicts of Interest

- AI shall operate and maintain effective organisational and administrative arrangements with a view to taking all reasonable steps to manage CoI directly or indirectly giving rise to a risk of damage to the interests of Clients.
- Appendix 1 to this Policy summarises certain generic types of conflicts of interest in relation to which AI has put specific policies and/or approved procedures in place. Those controls are designed to ensure that robust processes are in place to reduce the possibility of a material risk of damage to the interests of Clients and compliance with those policies and/or procedures will be treated as compliance with this Policy. As a result, circumstances captured under Appendix 1 of this Policy do not need to be recorded as a CoI in accordance with the obligations set out under this Policy.

- Any other Conflict of Interest must be identified, mitigated, managed and reported in accordance with this Policy. Employees are directed to the supporting Conflict of Interest Procedures, where categories of conflicts and mitigating factors can be found. Employees should categorise conflicts submitted, and supplement the noted mitigating factors with any factors relevant to the conflicts they report.

Most effective measures to manage conflicts of interest

- In determining appropriate measures to manage any Conflict of Interest, AI must identify and apply the most effective means available, having regard to all the circumstances, to mitigate the risks arising from that conflict, including avoidance of a conflict (see below).

Disclosure of Conflicts of Interest to Clients

- In circumstances where actions taken to mitigate a Conflict of Interest still gives rise to a residual risk of damage to the interests of a Client, but it is still deemed appropriate to continue to act for the Client in accordance with the Principle set out above, AI must clearly disclose the general nature and/or sources of Conflict of Interest to the Client prior to undertaking business (for example in the client IMA or fund disclosure documents), or any further business, for the Client, and the steps taken by AI to minimise those risks.

  - The disclosure must
    - include specific description of the CoI that arise in the provision of the service to the Client, and the risk that could arise as a result of the conflict;
    - be made in durable medium, and must expressly state that the organisational and administrative arrangements established by AI to manage the conflict are not sufficient to ensure that the risks of damage to the interests of the client will be prevented; and
    - include sufficient detail, taking into account the nature and circumstances of the Client, to enable that Client to make an informed decision regarding the service in the context of which the Conflict of Interest arises.

- All such cases should be brought to the attention of and approved by the Accountable Executive for the relevant business area prior to taking action and the nature of the Conflict of Interest, the mitigating actions taken and the disclosure of the Conflict of Interest must be reported to Local Compliance via the using the Central system.

Inability to effectively address a conflict

- Where it is determined that AI is unable to identify or implement measures to mitigate a Conflict of Interest which may give rise to a risk of damage to the interests of a Client or Clients, AI must take appropriate action to avoid the Conflict of Interest, including, where appropriate, declining to act for a particular Client.
6. ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Employees

Each Employee must:

- Comply with all elements of this Policy, and understand how it applies to their specific job functions and/or responsibilities;
- Take all reasonable steps to identify any actual or potential Conflict of Interest including any OBI that relate to them personally, or refer to their job functions and/or responsibilities, and to report them to their line manager and to their Local Compliance function in accordance with approved procedures for identifying and reporting CoI;
- In conjunction with their Line Manager, identify the conflict of interest owner and report the CoI to them.
- Assess (in consultation with Local Compliance) the materiality of any actual or potential Conflict of Interest in accordance with Appendix 2
- In the event of any material changes to an open conflict of interest, notify the relevant CoI owner or their nominee and their Local Compliance function.
- Periodically attest that they have disclosed (and that the Conflict of Interest register reflects) all applicable CoI;
- Report any actual or apparent violation of this Policy to Compliance, whether or not the matter is related to their specific business unit or job function to relevant line management and Local Compliance function.

In the UK, a breach of this Policy may call into question an in-scope Employee’s fitness and propriety and may impact their certificate issued under the FCA Senior Managers & Certification Regime (SMCR) or their approval as a Senior Management Function (as applicable). Such breaches may also be reportable to the FCA, in particular in the case of a breach which constitutes a Conduct Rule breach.

Conflicts of Interest Owners

Each Conflict of Interest Owner is responsible for:

- Ensuring that the relevant conflict of interest to which he or she has been identified as owner has been appropriately mitigated
- Ensuring that the conflict of interest for which they are owner is represented accurately on the register and that any changes are made promptly
- With the support of Local Compliance, ensuring that all necessary parties are made aware of any open conflict that cannot be mitigated.
- Appointing a “CoI Nominee” where ownership of a CoI is better suited elsewhere in the Business.
- Where relevant, providing the necessary disclosure to a client where a CoI cannot be mitigated.

Accountable Executive

In addition to complying with this Policy as an Employee, each Accountable Executive is responsible for embedding this Policy in their business areas and, in particular, for:

- Ensuring that all Employees within their Business Function understand the requirements of this Policy;
- Identifying and promptly addressing any actual or potential Conflict of Interest within their business areas, working with Local Compliance to ensure appropriate measures are in place to sufficiently manage, mitigate or avoid any such Conflict of Interest in accordance with this Policy;

- Ensuring that (1) the Conflict of Interest register represents a complete, current, and accurate record for their business area and (2) that appropriate records relating to the operational management of such conflicts are maintained;

- Identifying any actual or potential violations of this Policy within their business area, taking all appropriate actions in accordance with the Risk Event Management Process, including escalation to Compliance.

Local Compliance Functions

The Compliance Officers of the local AI Entities are responsible for the following, in relation to the AI businesses over which it has compliance oversight:

- Causing this Policy to be published in an appropriate manner so that it is accessible to all Employees in their local AI Entities;

- Maintaining approved procedures for the reporting and management of CoI and ensuring that appropriate records are maintained in accordance with this Policy;

- Maintaining a local CoI Register for their local AI Entities consistent with the requirements of the Compliance Central System;

- Monitoring and reporting on implementation of, and compliance with this Policy, including reporting on and tracking resolution of any material breaches of this Policy;

- Advising on and, where appropriate, approving exceptions to this Policy.

Compliance Officers of the local AI Entities may from time to time issue such guidance as they consider appropriate to assist Employees and Accountable Executives in complying with this Policy and associated procedures, provided always that such guidance shall be subordinate to and consistent with this Policy.

UK Central Compliance

The Central Compliance function in Global Compliance (“Central Compliance”) is responsible for:

- Performing the Local Compliance responsibilities for the UK regulated entities and their overseas branches;

- Ensuring that all Material CoI (being those Conflicts which are classified as either High or Very High Risk, in accordance with the ratings in Appendix 2) across the firm’s global business are reported to the Global Compliance Officer for submission to the Risk Management Committee and relevant AIHL Board Committees.

7. MANAGEMENT INFORMATION

Each Head of Local Compliance functions must provide relevant timely and accurate reporting relating to CoI to the Chief Compliance officer and local Risk Committees at such frequency and containing such information as shall be agreed from time to time with the Chairman of each such Committee including, without limitation, breaches of this Policy and any CoI that, in the opinion of Local Compliance, give rise to particular cause for concern.

The Chief Compliance Officer shall provide relevant, timely and accurate reporting of such matters to the AI Risk Management Committee and to the Board Risk Committees
8. TRAINING AND AWARENESS

Obligations under this Policy are communicated to staff through compliance induction training, a combination of computer-based and face-to-face training and through access to this Policy, related procedures and any guidance issued by local Compliance Officers. The objectives and high level requirements of this Policy are also reflected in the Aviva Investors Global Ethical Conduct Code (or local AI equivalents), which all Employees are required to attest to on an annual basis.

9. RECORD KEEPING

All records relating to this Policy must be retained for a minimum of 5 years. Local AI Entities shall issue procedures detailing the maintenance of records. As a minimum, these procedures will be compliant with local regulatory requirements and will require that:

- The Local Col Register must be maintained by Local Compliance using the Central system.
- Accountable Executives ensure that records in relation to Col are maintained on the system for their relevant business areas, including evidence to support mitigating controls and (where required) disclosures to client, in each case, to demonstrate compliance with all elements of this Policy.

| External Clients present a risk of conflict. Examples may include: | - where information available at AI in relation to one client, would potentially benefit another;
- where an AI entity is acting in respect of two clients party to the same transaction;
- where the demand for an investment opportunity which AI can facilitate exceeds what it can make available | - AIRA Related Party Transactions Policy.
- AIRA Fair Allocation Policy |

| Complaints handling / investigation | Employees investigating Client complaints may be conflicted, compromising the independence of the investigation to the possible detriment of the Client. | - Complaint handling procedures require all complaints to be recorded and monitored centrally by Compliance and investigated by a competent employee not directly involved in the matter which is the subject of the complaint. |

| Cross Trades | The processes involved in the execution of trades, allocation of securities forming part of a trade and cross trades could result in unfair trade execution or allocation across Client accounts and trades being executed in a priority that favours one or more Client to the disadvantage of other Clients. | - Policies and approved procedures for the management and oversight of Cross Trades. |
