Build confidence in the face of uncertainty

Protecting your client against risk is at the heart of everything we do – supported by over 140 in-house risk consultants, claims service managers, client relationship managers and technical experts. From reducing the risk of claims and disruption to helping their business recover after a claim, our collaborative approach allows us to understand their risks better while sharing our expertise.

Leveraging local expertise for compliant cover

From compliance with local regulations to local language policies and claims handling, protecting a client from global risk exposure means getting the details right. That's why we work with a trusted network of leading local insurers to cover over 180 territories.

- Individually assessed for financial security, reputation, service excellence and product capability.
- Specially selected so we can mirror our appetite around the globe.
- Service Level Agreements (SLAs) maintain high service standards.
- Managed centrally by our Network Team in London.

Global proposition, local support

Our dedicated team unites specialists and multinational service experts to craft multinational-controlled master programmes with local admitted policies. Our market-leading, full-service offering means your clients receive a seamless, high-quality, cost-effective solution that simplifies complexity.

“ Multinational programmes by their nature are inherently complex. Our goal, however, is simple: our clients should be confident that their insurance solution protects their assets and risk exposures across the globe. From ensuring solutions are fully compliant with local regulations to knowing that policies will react exactly as they expect them to when they need them most, we are a partner clients can trust to deliver.

Our teams work collaboratively to fully understand the risks a business faces today and tomorrow, bringing the best of Aviva across underwriting, claims, risk management and client relationship management. ”
