

Give your business's cyber resilience a boost

Join the Cyber Resilience Centre in your region and help prepare your business against today's key threats

The National Cyber Resilience Centre Group (NCRCG) is a collaboration between the police, government, academic institutions and private-sector organisations such as Aviva to help strengthen cyber resilience across the UK's small and medium-sized business community.

A not-for-profit organisation, the NCRCG aims to co-ordinate a strong defence against cyber attacks on UK businesses, arming business owners with the skills and resources to better defend their organisations.

Introducing Cyber Resilience Centres – the network that better arms you against cyber threats

Every organisation in this country is a potential target for cyber criminals – whatever its size, location or sector. However, it's often smaller organisations without dedicated IT security personnel that bear the brunt of cyber crime.

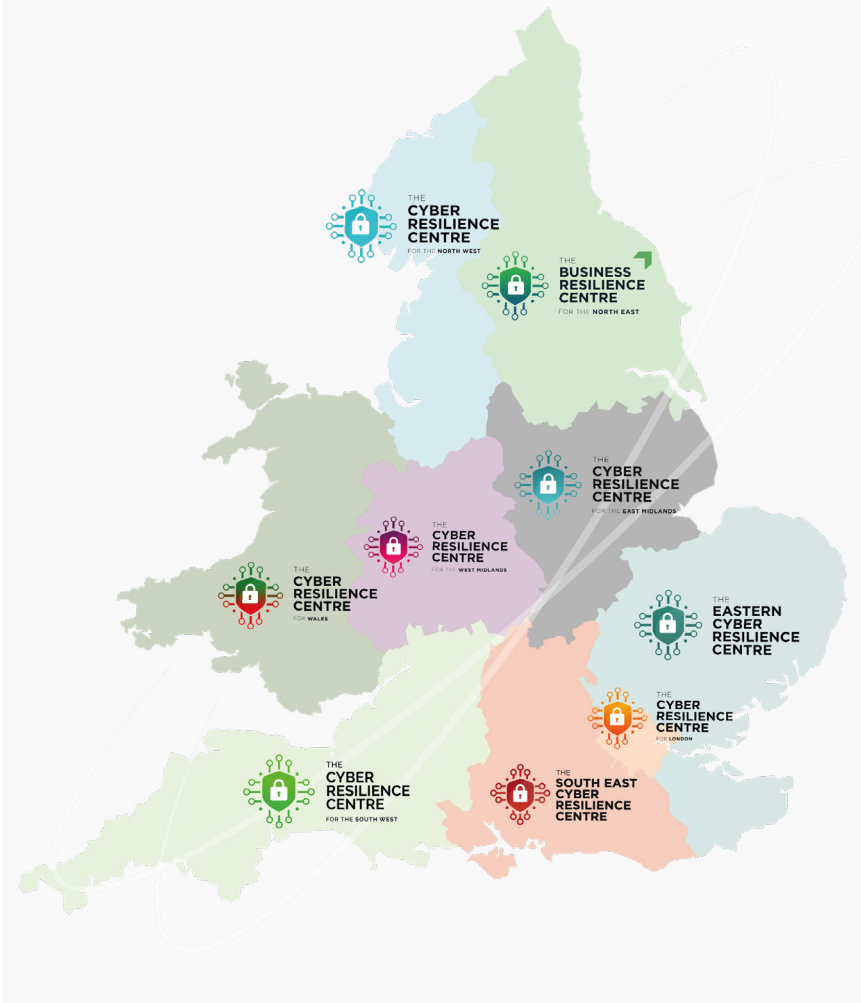

To combat this, the NCRCG consists of nine regional Cyber Resilience Centres (CRCs) located across England and Wales, offering on-the-ground regional support to help businesses like yours strengthen their cyber resilience and better protect themselves and their supply chain against cyber crime.

Joining your regional CRC is a great way to help guard against cyber risks your business faces. You'll get access to a range of valuable resources, guidance, training and support for all things cyber.

What's more, you'll be able to connect with a network of like-minded business owners who are committed to reducing online risk. Each centre regularly hosts events and seminars and shares local, national and international cyber threats and trends.
